REPLY TO:
OLYMPIA OFFICE
INSURANCE BUILDING
OLYMPIA, WASHINGTON 98504
753-7300, AREA CODE 206

To Members of the Washington State Legislature

It is a pleasure to present to you the Eighty-eighth Annual Report of the Washington State Insurance Commissioner. This document covers official transactions and significant developments in the business of insurance here as required by RCW 48.02.170.

The bulk of the activities and transactions of the state Insurance Commissioner's Office for 1981 are outlined in the charts, tables, and recapitulations of pages 1 through 161 of this report.

The activities of the Fire Marshal Division are generally outlined in narrative form on pages 9 through 19 of this report.

This report is compiles from the computerized data base and record keeping system provided through the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) office. We think this is a more cost effective way to present this information. Company data is for the period from January 1, 1981 through December 31, 1981.

Sincerely,

Dick Marquardt

Dick Marquardt
Insurance Commissioner
and State Fire Marshal

Annual Report of the Office of Insurance Commissioner

Covering Events and Activities From

January 1, 1981 through December 31, 1981

This report is being published under RCW 48.02.170. As that law requires, the material appearing in the statistical tables of Section II is taken from the annual statements which the insurers themselves have filed with this Office and with the NAIC. Thus, the publication of these tables by this Office should not be construed as a confirmation by this Office of the accuracy of any given figure.

OFFICE OF THE STATE FIRE MARSHAL

ANNUAL REPORT - January 1, 1981 to December 31, 1981

WA-FIRS PROGRAM. The Washington Fire Incident Reporting System (WA-FIRS) is a statewide fire reporting system, which went into effect September 1, 1980, pursuant to RCW 48.48.065.

Its primary responsibility is the gathering and compilation of statistical information based on the fire experience of participating fire departments.

A Pilot program was implemented in 1979 with the selection of 46 fire departments representing all areas of the state. Since that time, the WA-FIRS Program has been steadily expanding. At the end of 1981, it featured 165 participating fire departments.

These 165 participating fire departments provided fire safety for approximately 3 million (75 percent) of the states 4 million population.

The fire incident data collected by the WA-FIRS Program has proven its value in identifying fire problems and trends. Solid fuel heating devices have been clearly identified as the leading cause of residential fires. As a result of the identification of this fire problem, there has been an increase in public education efforts aimed at rectifying this situation.

The statistical information available through the WA-FIRS Program has been utilized by many diverse organizations including fire departments, insurance companies, consumer educators, education and the news media; all with the goal of making the public aware of potential fire hazards.

Information is provided to the individual participating fire departments through "feed-back reports." These reports are based on the fire data as reported by each department and provide information that helps to identify several characteristics of their fire experience.

This information includes not only fire problems, but also the major factors associated with each fire problem area. Types of fires are classified by the time, day and month of occurrence; the factors causing ignition, and the resulting damage. Information on fire casualties is provided in much the same way. Through analysis of these casualty factors, fire departments can develop effective strategies for fire prevention and suppression activities.

FIRE INVESTIGATION DIVISION. The fire investigation division consists of a Chief of Investigation and 7 investigators. The primary responsibility of the division is the investigation of fires of criminal, suspected or undetermined origin, as reported by local fire or police officials and insurance adjusters--or fires involving fraud as reported by insurance companies. Upon request, the division will assist in determining the cause of a fire and will follow up on the criminal aspects of the investigation in cooperation with local law enforcement agencies and prosecuting attorneys. The division also assists the other divisions of the office in the investigation of fires in facilities where the office has regulatory responsibilities. Various state and federal agencies often request investigative assistance from division experts. As local departments develop expertise, we anticipate a shift in emphasis from fire cause determination to fraud and arson investigation, commensurate with recent changes in the law expanding the authority and responsibility of the office.

The fire investigation division is now designated a "criminal justice agency" and the investigators have been given police powers so they can more effectively investigate arson-caused fires and insurance fraud. The law authorizing exercise of these powers also contains provisions requiring the establishment of minimum training standards, which all investigators are required to meet. Much of the year was spent developing these standards, which are now a part of the Washington Administrative Code. The code provides for additional training for the investigators and calls for the development of policies and procedures to detail exercise of these powers.

The division is responsible for receiving, reviewing and maintaining all reports of fires of criminal, suspected or undetermined origin submitted by local fire departments or other public agencies. It also reviews all insurance company or adjuster reports of insured loss fires in which fraud is suspected or the cause is believed to be other than accidental. The division also receives reports on all insured fire losses in excess of $500 submitted through the Property Insurance Loss Register, an industry-wide national reporting system developed and maintained by insurance companies. These reports, plus those generated through investigations by the division, are cross-indexed and maintained in the Olympia office. These records are increasingly proving their value in establishing patterns and past histories of questionable fires. With the recent increase in the Statute of Limitations for arson from 3 to 10 years, an extended retention period became necessary and a new records vault was added to the office.

FIREWORKS REGULATION. The division is responsible for enforcement of the fireworks law through licensing and regulation of pyrotechnic operators, public fireworks displays, retail fireworks stands, and manufacturers/wholesalers/importers. Seizures of contraband fireworks are becoming more frequent as enforcement efforts are increased. However, the seasonal nature of fireworks precludes maintaining an adequate staff to specialize in this function and the personnel of the entire agency are occasionally used during the fireworks season. An antiquated state law and conflict between it and the federal laws cause a lot of Washington's fireworks problems. This is compounded by increased sales activity through mail-order and on indian reservations, not subject to state regulation.

RESIDENTIAL INSPECTION DIVISION. During calendar year 1981, the Residential Inspection Division continued to provide fire/life safety inspection services, as required by the Department of Social and Health Services in their programs for licensing transient lodging facilities and a broad range of child care agencies.

There was a modest increase in the total number of residential inspections, due to an inspection staff increase during March, 1981. The staff increase provided for a more efficient use of personnel, by balancing the inspection workload and providing for more effective scheduling of inspections.

Calendar year 1981 marked the beginning of the second inspection cycle for transient lodging facilities. Special "target conditions" were the focus of the second inspection cycle, and included efforts to ensure the reliability of fire protection systems such as fire alarm systems, sprinkler systems, and fire rated assemblies.

Inspections of child care agencies increased slightly over the past year, with a modest increase in the inspections of small day care centers. Inspections of other categories of child care agencies remained generally stable, with no significant difference in the number of inspections.

The following chart provides a general overview of the facilities or agencies subject to licensing inspections by the Residential Inspection Division.

TYPE OF LICENSED FACILITY	STATUTORY AUTHORITY	NUMBER LICENSED	INSPECTION FREQUENCY
Transient Accommodations: Hotels, motels, resorts and condominiums offering 3 or more lodging units to transient guests. NOTE: Chapter 284-144-020(11) further states "for periods less than one month."	RCW 70.62	1280	Annual

HEALTH CARE FACILITIES FIRE PROTECTION DIVISION. During the year this division was assigned new supervisory leadership resulting in various improvements. For example:

- Inspection zones were reassessed and realigned to reduce travel and increase inspection time.
- More frequent staff meetings were held to compare and resolve field problems.
- Personnel were continuously updated on the state of the art in fire protection.
- Personnel were consulted for input in developing new inspection methods and new regulations.
- A greater emphasis was put on thoroughness of inspections and stricter enforcement, tempered with judgement and public education.

- Special inspections were conducted during evening hours to evaluate a facilities readiness to react to a fire emergency when staff capability is reduced.

- Closer liaison has been established with all levels of state and federal governmental agenices involved.

The Fire Marshal's Office (under RCW 70.41, 18.51, 18.20 and 71.12) must make certain that all hospitals, nursing homes, boarding homes and private establishments serving the physically and mentally handicapped, and individuals suffering from drug or alcohol related conditions, meet minimum fire and life safety standards. To achieve this objective, the Division, under contract with the Department of Social and Health Services, conducts annual life safety code surveys in approximately 760 licensed facilities throughout the state. Facilities meeting the established life safety codes and inspection approval are eligible for licensing and may also participate in federally sponsored Medicare and Medicaid Programs.

New standards for fire protection WACS were developed to cover new programs instituted by the Department of Social and Health Services as follows:

- WAC 212-26 HOSPICE CARE CENTERS

- WAC 212-43 ADULT RESIDENTIAL TREATMENT FACILITIES

- WAC 212-45 PRIVATE ADULT TREATMENT HOMES

Special regulations were developed for the following:

- Non-ambulatory persons in boarding homes

- Intermediate care mentally retarded facilities

This section of the division continues to operate with the same number of personnel, but with a continually growing number of facilities under its responsibility.

STATE FIRE MARSHAL PLAN REVIEW. The plan review section of this division exists through interagency agreement with the Department of Social and Health Services. It includes the review of plans for new and remodeled hospitals, nursing homes, boarding homes for the aged, alcoholic treatment facilities, hospice care centers, residential treatment facilities for psyciatrically impaired children and youths, childbirth centers and private establishments.

Funding cuts by the Department of Social and Health Services have resulted in the elimination of one of the two deputy fire marshals assigned to this section. The construction inspection function under the same program has also been eliminated.

The Deputy State Fire Marshal assigned to this important function has specialized training and experience. He confers with owners, administrators, architects, and engineers in pre-design and pre-construction conferences and as needed throughout the life of the project. He operates under the general supervision of the State Fire Marshal, but receives his assignments from the Department of Social and Health Services. These assignments are then closely coordinated with the other staff consultants in the architectural, engineering, and electrical disciplines.

The deputies assigned to the health care facilities inspections continue to monitor and approve installation of new automatic extinguishing systems, fire alarm and detection systems. All other fire protection features of new construction must wait to be inspected and approved at the next annual inspection of the facility due to lack of manpower.

SPECIAL PLAN REVIEW FUNCTION. Under a contract between the State Jail Commission and the State Fire Marshal, the health care facilities fire protection division provides plan reviews and consultation for a series of new county and city jail construction projects.

SUMMARY:

The close of calendar year 1981 saw approximately 75% of the state's population covered by uniform fire reports (165 participating departments). This uniform fire incident reporting system was utilized by a number of diverse organizations including, but not limited to, fire departments, insurance associations, consumer education groups, news media, and the Washington State Legislature. In addition, 1981 was the first year of the full program with an ultimate goal of between 90% and 95% of the state's population reporting by 1985.

The year, 1981, was also a very significant year in the State of Washington's war against arson. Once again, much of the credit should be given to the Senate Oversight Committee on Arson for strengthening Washington State arson laws. For example, they changed the statute of limitations on arson from three to ten years. The State Fire Marshal's Office was granted full police powers for arson investigation, a significant step in allowing our fire investigation division to function more effectively.

The year also shadowed concerns regarding the ability to fund the State Fire Marshal's Office. The office was unable to fill a fire investigation position in a much needed area of the state, thereby requiring the fire department, police department and public to call Olympia for help, which was at least three hours away.

The residential inspection team concentrated on a fine tuning of its efforts, particularly in the inspection of hotels and motels in the state. Major changes were readily apparent to even the layman viewing the various fire protection measures taken in those facilities. The division staff made it a special priority to see that the requirements, i.e., emergency plans, and fire protection devices were functioning as designed.

The health care facilities fire protection division saw a change in leadership, bringing with it a renewed dedication to watching particular occupancies that historically have been problem areas in fire protection. Specifically, nursing homes and boarding homes were highlighted for closer examination.

The loss of one of our two plan reviewers as a result of cutbacks in federal funds required renewed commitment on the part of the remaining plan reviewer. In addition, a Department of Social and Health Services decision to eliminate the requirement for construction inspections was opposed to no avail. We think this will lead to a potentially serious problem as many items most deserving of inspection will be covered up "behind plasterboard."

The antiquated state fireworks law, which celebrated its 20th birthday, only highlighted once again, the need for change. We noticed an increase in the use of the State Fire Marshal seal on illegal fireworks manufactured in the Peoples Republic of China.

The State Fire Marshal's Office was involved in an optional plan review program with the State Jail Commission for new county and city jail construction projects. This interdepartment agreement resulted in numerous requests for assistance throughout the state and was well received by local officials and architects involved in the various construction projects.

As 1981 drew to a close, the statutory construction of the State Fire Marshal's Office was immeasurably strengthened. The beginning of the state budget crisis was already being felt via personnel shortages; nevertheless, the overall goal of protecting the citizens and guests of our state against the hazards to life and property was reaffirmed.
